

Hooksett housing More is needed

Neighborworks Greater Manchester wants to bring more low- and mid-priced housing to Hooksett. It's a proposal with merit.

The organization wants the town to rezone 50 acres on the Route 28 Bypass from commercial to residential. It's a good idea, but the town needs to go about it the right way. It should put a zoning amendment up for voter approval.

There is a serious lack of low- and mid-priced homes in the area, and this plan would provide homes for lots of families that otherwise could not afford them.
